THE CONVENT DAYLESFORD

A visit to The Convent is a must. This is Daylesford's most iconic building - once the Gold Commissioner's home, then home to the Holy Cross nuns. Left derelict in the 1970's, the building was lovingly renovated and is now an award-winning gallery. The historic building houses seven individual gallery spaces, a museum, restored original chapel, gift shop and a cafe, set amongst six acres of beautiful gardens.

All visits include a history tour

Group weekday specials:
